Our Captain Johan Terblanche :

With all the rain we had the last couple of months Bloemfontein Golf Club is in a very good condition, should you be playing on the fairways. If you stray slightly to the left or right it is a totally different ballgame – the word that comes to mind is brutal. This will be the same rough that awaits the professionals in the beginning of March.

I had the privilege of playing with two guests namely Marius Kingsley and Theo van Tonder, with fellow Nomad Ike Heyns making up the fourth player. I decided to pay my side bet on the 15th tee already as we were totally beaten at that stage already. Theo was the winner in the A division and overall winner of the day with 38 points and he and Ike also the best Playing Pair. Now you know why I paid early.

Three prospectives also joined us in the field and from what I could gather we have guests that have indicated that they wish to join Nomads. This is the only way that we can keep this club alive and building towards the future.

You would have noted that our ladies have acquired new clothing and it looks very professional and one immediately knew who's in charge of the day.

Next year Free State Nomads will be hosting the National Tournament and we will definitely have more spots available than currently. To be able to qualify for a spot at the tournament we have a ranking system in place taking the following into consideration – games and prizegiving's attended, Golphoruma duties, away games. This ranking system uses the last eighteen months information up to the entries being opened. So, start working on your stats during this year to increase your chances of qualifying.

Our next game will be held at Parys County Club on the 12th of February, and it will also be the National Chairman's visit. We have also invited Northerns and Easterns to join us for the day and thus far five players from Northerns already booked their spots and paid. They want to challenge the Free State and we are always up for a challenge.

Stay safe and see you at the next game.
